SmartShape's Mike Maczuzak Completes Walk Across USA

SmartShape Design President Mike Maczuzak completed a walk across the USA while testing a variety of remote health monitoring, fitness tracking and other wearable technology devices. Read more at SmartShape's website.

A Product Design Firm President's High-Tech Essentials for a Walk Across the USA

On March 17, 2015, SmartShape Design president Mike Maczuzak dipped his toes in the Atlantic and started off on a walk across the country to the Pacific. In total, the east to west coast trip took him 125 days to complete, and he walked close to 3,600 miles. To keep an eye on his health and keep tabs on his business throughout his journey, Mike kept the following items on hand.

- TEMPTRAQ THERMOMETER PATCH
Used to test the temperature patch and monitor internal temperature in extreme heat conditions.
- SAMSUNG GALAZY NOTE 4 SMARTPHONE
Used to keep in touch with family, friends, and colleagues.
- VIVANTA CARE HEART RATE MONITOR
Used to measure and record an accurate snapshot of pulse and heart rate as he walks and rests.
- SAMSUNG GEAR S2
Used to measure step count, heart rate, sleeping patterns, and record water consumption.
- VIVANTA CARE ACTIVITY TRACKER
Used to keep track of his steps and help VivantaCare test the device's user experience, reliability, durability, and battery life.
- FITBIT FLEX
Used to measure his step count and sleep patterns.
- PETZEL REACTIK HEADLAMP
Used for night walking.
- PLANTRONICS HANDS-FREE TALKING
Used to better eliminate traffic and wind background noise during phone calls.
- LG HANDS-FREE TALKING
Used for its long battery life.
- ANKER SOLAR PANEL CHARGE
Used over three to four day-long stretches in the desert to access power.
- VIVANTA CARE TEMPERATURE MONITOR
Used to measure and record internal body temperature variances as he walks and rests.
- ANKER EXTERNAL BATTERY
Used as a source of power for his electronic devices.
